

Sex Offender Management

An integrated continuum of specialized treatment and community-based supervision

Liberty manages an array of sex offense-specific treatment and community supervision programs on behalf of state departments of correction and mental health. Our services include specialized treatment, risk assessments, re-entry programming, and case management supervision. These services form a unique continuum of care that promotes self-responsibility and reduces risk of reoffending. Our personnel work collaboratively with courts and agencies to blend well into correctional, inpatient, parole, civil commitment, and conditional release settings.

Our in-house panel of subject matter experts are widely published and have delivered numerous presentations to national organizations. Their expertise informs an array of programs that provide sex offender-specific assessment, treatment, supervision, polygraph, and GPS monitoring for adult and juvenile populations.

PROGRAMS AND SOLUTIONS

Sex Offender-Specific Treatment

- Clinical management and staffing of sex offender treatment programs

Re-Entry Programming

- Coordination of housing, employment, treatment, and other supports

Community Supervision

- Specialized case management supervision following community release

0.57%

rate of new sex crimes within three years of release — possibly the lowest in the nation

0 known new contact sex offenses in the 18-year history of a statewide release program

50%

cost reduction of core services for half of clients due to behavioral progress

THE LIBERTY ADVANTAGE

- National model for evidence-based correctional treatment and community management of sex offenders
- Continuum of care that includes risk-assessment, specialized treatment, re-entry transition services, and community management following release
- Subject matter experts who are widely published and address national conferences on issues related to sex offense-specific treatment and supervision

“

“This has been a high-profile program in the state, as every release of an SVP into the community has been met with media attention and community resistance. Well in advance of each release, Liberty staff meet and address potential issues with community officials, including law enforcement. The program is also consistently responsive to the requests of the courts throughout the state ...

Liberty has consistently met these challenges, often through new and innovative means. I strongly recommend their work and dedication to providing outstanding service to their customers.”

Supervising Psychologist
DEPARTMENT OF STATE HOSPITALS

(800) 331-7122

liberty@libertyhealth.com

